Close to the Holiday Inn Bayside

Liberty Station:

Just east of the Holiday Inn is Liberty Station. Once known as Naval Training Center, it is now the home to more than two dozen eateries, Trader Joe's, Vons and many other stores, shops and galleries. Please see Liberty Station Map.

Shelter Island Area:

Just west of the Holiday Inn is Shelter Island and its many marinas and nautical businesses. Several excellent restaurants are located in this area, including Pt. Loma Seafoods, 2805 Emerson St. just south of Scott St., where you can watch the fish being unloaded from the fishing boats and rolled right into the back of the restaurant. Now that's fresh. On Shelter Island are several good restaurants, some on the water and with nice views, and there is a fishing pier and parking areas where a picnic lunch can be enjoyed with views of the bay.

San Diego Area

With only a few days in town there's no way to see even a few of the many attractions in the San Diego area, so here's a short list of the most popular places with their websites. The sandiego.org website has links to most of the other websites, and with its many special pricing packages is the best starting place to look for information.

NHA Activities

NHA has a very tentative calendar which won't be revised until next year, so it's unlikely that any of its scheduled activities will be posted here before then.
